

It is not the government's job to help businesses maintain monopolies. If satellite radio can provide regional traffic and weather news as well or better than traditional broadcasters, then those broadcasters must improve their services to compete. If satellite radio does a poorer job, then listeners will still rely on local broadcasters as always. This is how the market economy is intended to work. Please don't interfere.